pass the naval bill without amend-

The author of the report must have been some friend of the Minister who wanted to invest them in a courage they do not possess.

The Government have probably about as much intention of going to the country on the strength of a proposal to lend thirty-five millions of borrowed dollars to Great Britain as they have of redistributing the seats so as to give Western Canada its proper representation in the House of Commons.

If the Senate threw out the supply bill the Government would have to go to the country. That the Senate will not likely do just what they might be in doing it. But with a house of commons good until 1916, the Ministers are not very likely to curtail their distinguished careers as advisers of His Majesty by appealing for popular support upon any such flimsy platform as the proposal to lend money to the wealthiest nation on earth, with the complementary proposal to abandon the development of Canadian naval defenses in keeping with the interests at stake and the duties of the Canadian people.

Remarked on the Side

Winston Churchill has now a good chance to show Germany that he is a person in his desire for mental disarmament. He might also call a British dreadnaught to the assistance of the British Empire, as he did at Dantzig, and let both countries sink.

According to one authority, a fight for the prize fight, which is fought with much knuckling. Any one who is not a knuckler is not a fighter, and it is not a fight to the death, but a fight to the death, and it is not a fight to the death, but a fight to the death.

It seems rather a pity, doesn't it, that the mother country should be compelled to spend $100,000 per annum on a twelve annual Privy Council session to decide overseas dominion matters. It looks as if one way of saving the money would be to let the land assistance in the superfluous government spending in the other cases, which is not a very good idea.

Patience is a very desirable quality in a policeman, and practice helps to perfect it. Nevertheless, the police will doubtless tender their greatest sympathy to the men who are now being put through the mill of these new uniforms, now to hand must not be until Monday.

The cheerful promptitude with which the government has accepted the suggestion of the decision to send him to the prison farm, on the understanding that he would be permitted to look after the land, is a very good example of the way in which the government should be treated.

HUDSON'S BAY COMPANY

Incorporated 1670 Herbert E. Burbidge, Sales Com'r.

And Now 'The Bay' Will Give a Prize for the Best-Grown Maple Tree

—We intend following up our plan to assist in making Edmonton 'a city beautiful.' We want every one of the 10,000 or more saplings we distributed last Friday to grow into big, shady trees.

—Each year, on Arbor Day, we will distribute more trees, of a different variety—being sure that we select trees that will lend beauty and shade to their surroundings; also, trees that will thrive in our particular soil.

—To encourage the proper care of these trees we make this proposition to every child who received 'Hudson's Bay Manitoba Maples.' It will be a competition among you, young city beautifiers. At the end of the present year notify us that you intend entering your trees in the competition—we will call and seal your tree and enter your name as a contestant. At the end of three years we will award, as a prize for the best cared for and most appearing tree, a beautiful gold watch valued at $50.00. This contest is open to all boys and girls who received a tree on 'Hudson's Bay Tree-Planting Day.'

—Each year a different variety of trees will be given and prizes awarded for the best growing variety at the end of the three-year period.

—Take good care of your tree—watch it grow—and see if you won't be the lucky boy or girl to win the valuable prize.

ALL THE PEOPLE CAN STAND

H. B. Ames, M.P., coined the liberal ideal of the Liberal Government into a query: whether 'the Canadian people are taxed more than they can properly stand.'

'All the traffic will bear' was the maxim upon which the Canadian Pacific Railway directors used to be accused of acting when they drew up the freight-rate schedules.

'All the people can stand' is inferentially declared to be the rule by which the Liberal Government intend to determine the height of the tariff schedules.

'All the traffic will bear' ceased to be the supposed maxim by which freight rates are fixed when the Laurier government built competing lines of railway into Western Canada and established a Railway Commission with power to regulate rates.

'All the people can stand' may cease to be the maxim by which the tariff rates are fixed when the voters get a change of government.

Mr. Ames and his friends that the determining factor in the case is not what the people can stand, but what they will stand.

CHAS. PARKING PLANT

LOOF DELICIOUS FOLEY

Editor Bulletin:

Sir,—Can you tell me when the street railway loop opposite the Swift parking plant was built up?

I noticed it yesterday for the first time, and do not recall that it was there when I visited the locality a couple of days ago.

It is the work of the main track on Norton street, at the end of the line, and you may know, returning to the street a block to the north.

Since the loop cannot have been built as a means of turning the cars round for the return trip, it could have been done much more cheaply and quickly by using a Y, as is customary.

I would take about 50 feet of track to make a Y, whereas the loop required an added track of some 300 feet, or six times as much. This means six times as much use of material and labor as was necessary to build a Y, and certainly no street railway system, saving an expert street railway man for superintending, with occasional assistance to assist him, are in reality behind this proposition, but it has arisen through the fact that some individual imagines that he is superior to a crowd, the facts of which he has investigated thoroughly at a later date.

I originally attended the Toronto Municipal College and graduated from there in the year 1888. This school was the first of its kind in Canada. I then passed the examination for the profession of engineer for the province of Ontario, and am at present qualified to practice medicine in that province. I subsequently took a post graduate course in Philadelphia and Chicago, and can show a certificate from the Chicago Post Graduate College and Hospital.

I am not a doctor, but a medical practitioner, and I have been practicing medicine in the city of Edmonton for some time.

DR. R. G. MONTGOMERY

DEFENDS HIMSELF

Editor Bulletin:

Sir,—My attention has recently been called to certain articles that have been appearing in some of the newspapers, in the city of Edmonton, in regard to a certain charge that has been laid against me for practicing medicine without a license, in the province of Alberta.

I am never anxious for newspaper notoriety, but inasmuch as these articles tend to be, as some called them, 'a medical practitioner,' I think it only due to myself that some care be taken with respect to the matter.

I am in the Edmonton Capital, of recent date, a short statement with respect to the proposition which has been laid against me, and in which I am represented, by the Hon. Mr. Macdonald. I only came to Edmonton last November, after having practiced medicine in the province of Ontario for a period of eleven years.

I do not believe that the medical men of the province of Alberta are in reality behind this proposition, but it has arisen through the fact that some individual imagines that he is superior to a crowd, the facts of which he has investigated thoroughly at a later date.

Talking of modern jewelry—stunning effect is carried out in the modern, new, streamlined, in fashion

Indian jewelry displayed in Jackson Bros' window. Necklets—in the Burbar design, are very striking. Pendants of matrix turquoises set in enamelled gold, as well as sapphires in original Indian setting—all fashioned in Burmah—challenge admiration. A charming emerald cross competes more than a passing glimpse.
